

Here, there or nowhere?

What do you do with friends that don't get along?

Have you ever been in the situation where you've had to choose one friend over the other?? ...Well for those who have been, you know how difficult it can be to have to play favourites at the risk of your friendship. Now the question is what should you do?? Do you go out with one and keep it a secret from your other friend?? Do you just stay home?? Or do you just make the difficult choice??

Well heres the verdict; if you go out with one friend and keep it a secret from your other friend, the mate you lied to will feel betrayed and be annoyed, not because of your actual intentions but with the fact that you were untruthful to her. If you stay at home, not only will you be disappointed but so will the both of them. You could just make the difficult choice and choose one friend over the other but that wouldn't go down well either way. So I guess you'll be dammed if you do and dammed if you don't, agree??

Now anyone who's been in either situation would say that the best thing to do is to be truthful. Put your self in their shoes, how would feel?? Make another time that the two of you could catch up. Explain the situation to your friend and make sure that they understand that you're not ditching them.

The most important thing is to make time for all of your friends, always be honest with them and be there for them in both the good and bad times. Your friends are the family that you choose!!

Louise Ketts

We all have them...

My boyfriend and I were out canoeing and we run out of water so we stopped and walked for a bit then he got a bit romantic and we started kissing... when we were canoeing back a heap of people that had been sitting iin a restaurant all started clapping at us!

I asked my best friend when her twin sisters birthday was...
Emma 18

I left my phone in a restaurant on the table... when I realised like ten minutes later I ran back and looked everywhere for it but it was gone. I was looking under the table frantically and when I stood up the whole restaurant was staring at me. A waiter was standing above me laughing —he had picked it up off the table but because I was so flustered I hadn't even looked at him and didn't even think to ask!

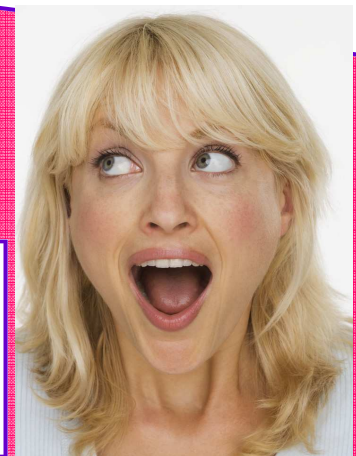

I was walking down the street when someone came running up to me, calling my name and gave me a huge hug then started talking to me about random stuff. I didn't recognise them for 2 whole minutes... and it was my cousin!

I ran straight through and busted a fly screen door... in front of a heap of visitors at one of my parents birthday parties!

Kirsty 16

Walking down the street, had just brought a hot pair of stiletto's and tripped over... falling into a group of hot guys.

Nicki 16

Embarrassing Moments!